IEEE Future Directions considers the reflection of technology through the lens of social implications, a key tenant of their work as the Future Directions Initiatives incubate and promote technologies. This eNewsletter highlights the social implications of technology, including but not limited to policy and ethical topics. The articles aim to foster an intellectual exchange of ideas between the world's top subject matter experts, researchers, and practitioners in the areas of future technologies.

How to Contribute:

Authors are invited to contribute articles on an ongoing basis and receive recognition in the publication. Accepted articles are technology-focused and product agnostic, with a word count of 800 to 1,200 words.

Join the Editorial Board:

The Editorial Board performs the following functions:

- Attend Editorial Board meetings
- Edit and proofread articles
- Network and recruit new leads for submissions
- Conduct cursory peer review
- Help prepare Special Editions and identify topical areas of interest.
